

Jamshedpur Co-operative College, Jamshedpur

Department of Political Science

M A Programme offered and outcome

Political Science is the most popular subject among all social science students. Political Science is offered in Postgraduate (MA) programme respectively.

The course focuses on the numerous concepts associated with politics and, covers various governance systems, economics, sociology, international relations, global politics, psychology, public administration, International organizations, International law, Bureaucracy, Human rights among other topics.

The course introduces students to the functioning of a government and helps to analyse political systems.

This course is suitable for those interested in politics and in learning about a country's administrative structure.

The entire course is devoted to the study of government and teaches the process and fundamentals of decision making in a society.

The course prepares students for fascinating careers in a variety of professions in government at the federal, state and local level, law and international organizations, electoral politics and polls, journalism, research, public administration among others.

The postgraduate programmes in Political Science is a boon for students aspiring to succeed in the civil services examinations and guides them in building a political career.